

Antonia Pilar Bordonada Gracia

antoniab@unizar.es

Antonia Bordonada has a Degree in Spanish Filology from the University of Zaragoza, a Post Graduate from this University in Language, Video and Television Techniques and a Master in Language Sciences and Techniques from the University of Nice (France).

During the PhD period in UNED she worked in Oral History and Language Interference developing innovative ELE projects in the ENS of Libreville (France). She has worked as lecturer in the University of Nice (France) and as Spanish teacher in the IUT (Info-com) Sophia-Antipolis, the high school Liceo Int. in Montpellier and Amical des Espagnols (co-founder) in Marseille, etc.

Currently she teaches Spanish as a foreign language in the University of Zaragoza and she is particularly interested in cinema for ELE.