

Demelsa Ortiz Cruz
demelsa@unizar.es

PhD in Spanish Language (Summa Cum Laude, University of Zaragoza). Graduate in Spanish Philology (University of Zaragoza), recipient of the Third National Award in Spanish Language and Literature (Ministry of Education) and the “Gregorio García Arista” Award in Spanish Language and Literature (University of Zaragoza). Attained a Masters in Spanish Studies: Language and Literature (University of Zaragoza), a Masters in Teacher Training: Language and Literature (University of Zaragoza) and a Masters in Teaching Spanish as a Foreign Language (Pablo de Olavide University). She has gained a FPU in Spanish research and teaching fellowship from the General and Spanish Linguistics Department, where she did her Doctoral Thesis (directed by Dr. Enguita and Dr. Lagüéns) about historical and dialectal lexicography, a subject on which she has published several papers. She has also been an Adjunct Professor at the General and Spanish Linguistics Department. She is a member of the ARALEX Research Group and collaborates on the DDEAR Research Project. She currently teaches Spanish as a foreign language at the University of Zaragoza and she is a DELE examiner for the Cervantes Institute.