

Pilar Marchante Chueca

pilarm@unizar.es

Degree in Hispanic Philology (Spanish Language) from the University of Zaragoza. Diploma of Advanced Studies in the area of Spanish Language from the University of Zaragoza. Master's Degree in Educational Technology and Digital Competences from the International University of La Rioja. PhD in Hispanic Linguistics from the University of Zaragoza. Her doctoral thesis deals with counterargumentative discourse connectors in ELE teaching (supervised by Dr. M.^a Antonia Martín Zorraquino). She is a teacher of ELE courses, teacher trainer and associate professor of Italian in the Dept. of Hispanic Linguistics and Literature at the University of Zaragoza. She has been a lecturer of Spanish at the Ca' Foscari University of Venice and professor of Spanish language at the University of Trieste. She has also been supervisor and proofreader of Spanish texts for the Swedish publishing house Natur & Cultur (2007-2009); and author of ELE teaching materials (SGEL, RedELE, etc.).